CHINA DOCUMENT BASED QUESTIONS

This is the place where you have to explain what the primary document is. You should include a description and brief history about the document.

THIS IS WHERE YOU PLACE
THE PRIMARY DOCUMENT. IT
CAN BE A PICTURE, A PIECE OF
TEXT, OR ANYTHING ELSE
THAT YOU FEEL WILL BE USEFUL IN OUR STUDY OF CHINA

(Directions to include)Using the documents, answer the questions by not only echoing the question, but using examples from the document to complete the answer

1. This is where you place the first scaffolding question. This question is usually the easiest and can be answered by using a simple part of the document.
2. This question is a little more difficult and usually requires the person taking the test to use the document and elaborate on the answer. The answer required is usually a few sentences which require specific examples from the document.
3. This question is the most difficult out of all of the questions. This question requires the test taker to not only use the document, but also use another test taking strategy. Strategies included are inference, prediction, and especially in depth answers. This question should allow the test taker to really use their knowledge and give a complete answer no less than three complete sentences with specific examples.
